Staging Concepts Welcomes New Regional Sales Manager for Southeast Territory

Minneapolis, June 10, 2019 – Staging Concepts, an industry leader in designing and manufacturing portable staging equipment, is proud to welcome a new team member to their sales division – Adam Kopperud. Adam recently moved from Texas to Minnesota and will be the new Regional Sales Manager for the southeast region. He joins Staging Concepts with an extensive sales background, including more than 13 years of developing sales leads, building relationships with architects, engineers, contractors, and winning commercial projects.

Adam’s background with architects, engineers, and contractors, and extensive work on several high-profile projects will provide him a seamless transition into Staging Concepts’ sales team.

Staging Concepts is excited to welcome Adam to their growing sales team and continuously expanding roles within the theater, sports, worship, and production/rental markets.
